KUJAWSKO-POMORSKIE

Kujawsko-Pomorskie Region of Poland

It is one of the sixteen (16) Polish regions, also called voivodships located in the north-central part of the country.

Area: 17,969km<sup>2</sup>

Population: 2.09 million ( on 31st December 2014)

Capitals: Toruń, Bydgoszcz

Consolidation of Units

The investment process is going hand in hand with the process of integrating healthcare units in the Kujawsko-Pomorskie Region, i.e.:

In Bydgoszcz, the Regional Dermatology Clinic has been incorporated into the Tadeusz Browicz Regional Hospital for Infectious Diseases and Observation, while the Regional Dental Centre into the structure of the Józef Brudzinski Regional Children's Hospital.

In Toruń, the structure of the Ludwik Rydygier Regional Polyclinical Hospital has been expanded with the Regional Children's Hospital, the Regional Psychiatric Centre for Medical Care, the Regional Hospital for Infectious Diseases and Observation, and the Regional Ambulance Service Station.

In Wloclawek, the Regional Ambulance Service Station has been merged with the structure of the Regional Hospital.
